

Spring Dawn by Meng Haoran

Trace the grey line first, then write it on your own in the empty boxes.

Meng Haoran (689–740)

Chūn mián bù jué xiǎo, Sleeping in spring, I did not notice the dawn;

春	眠	不	覺	曉	，

chù chù wén tí niǎo. everywhere I hear birds singing.

處	處	聞	啼	鳥	。

Yè lái fēng yǔ shēng, In the night came the sound of wind and rain;

夜	來	風	雨	聲	，

huā luò zhī duō shǎo. who knows how many flowers fell?

花	落	知	多	少	。

Character outlines: Make Me a Hanzi, Arphic Public License (hanzibloc.com/ARPHICPL.txt)